Your health and the health of your loved ones is important. One of the best ways to protect your health is to see your primary doctor on a regular basis. Primary care doctors care for you when you are sick or injured and make sure you are up to date on important vaccinations and health screenings.

We have excellent adult and pediatric primary care and obstetrics and gynecology providers at Henry Ford Medical Center – Hamtramck who would be honored to help you and your family achieve your best health. We also offer autism diagnostic and therapy services at our facility. General X-ray and laboratory services are on site, for your convenience.

When you are sick or injured, you don't want to wait for care. Call us for a same-day primary care appointment with one of our providers. And to avoid an expensive ER visit for minor illness or injury, come to one of the many Henry Ford Walk-In Clinics, open seven days a week and holidays, for the same copay as a regular primary care visit. For locations and hours, go to HenryFord.com/skipthewait.

We truly enjoy being a part of this diverse community where residents of all ages and ethnic backgrounds live, work and raise families. From our family to yours, all the best for the coming year.

For more information or to schedule an appointment for any of our services, please call us at (313) 972-9000.

Warm regards,

Welcome again everyone, to another edition of the Hamtramck Official City Business Directory.

It goes without saying that Hamtramck is a remarkably diverse city.

Generations of immigrants from all over Europe, Asia, Africa and Central and South America have called this city home, at least for a little while. Perhaps even an Oceanian or Antarctic?

The businesses of Hamtramck reflect their constituents; their wants and needs. Watching the ebb and flow of businesses starting up or closing down is a fascinating hobby here.

Once known as the American city with the most bars as versus the overall population, Hamtramck has recently seen some of those fabled institutions drift away.

But there are still many fine and varied places to eat in this city -- and some of those serve drinks, too, if one is so inclined.

There are party stores, of course, too. You don't have to leave the city to find a nearby grocery store or specialty market.

There are donut shops and coffees shops and sometimes both.

There are places of worship for Christians, Muslims and Zen Buddhists.

There are schools for all age of kids.

There are immigration service businesses to aid and assist the never-ending ingress of new faces.

There are medical clinics and pharmacies, opticians and dentists. There are booksellers and record stores. There are car mechanics and tire shops. Heating and cooling, plumbers, electricians.

Recently we have witnessed a tremendous growth in businesses serving the Bengali, Yemeni and Bosnian communities.

Who knows what the future will bring?

People come to America to create better lives for themselves or their children, or sometimes to escape untenable situations in their own countries. Where will the next wave come from?

Hamtramck has always welcomed all, regardless. I am confident that it will continue to do so.

Our business directory is here to help you, the Hamtramckan, make sense of all the choices you'll find in this incredible town.

It is our pleasure, in this our 11th year, to bring this publication to one and all. Have a great and blessed year, Hamtramck!

What's in store for the coming year? Just look back to last year

By Charles Sercombe

The year 2019 was chockful of news and development.

So, what can we expect in 2020?

As usual, plenty of the issues that will remain ongoing are leftovers from 2019.

One issue that received a lot of attention last year was the future of the GM Poletown plant, and its financial impact to the city.

It's still on the top of the list of things to watch.

Last year, there was a scare that GM would actually follow through on its announcement of closing the plant, along with four other North American plants.

That was truly a bombshell, considering GM just recently built the plant in the 1980s – to much controversy and fanfare. For Hamtramck, it would have been a financially devastating blow because, under the terms of a special deal, GM paid the city about $700,000 a year in lieu of property taxes.

A small portion of the plant straddles the Hamtramck side of the Detroit border.

Losing that amount of money might seem like a drop in the bucket for the City of Detroit, but in Hamtramck, it would have crippled us.

GM eventually did a turnabout on the plant and saved it.

But ... and in this case, but is not a good thing ... the plant will be closed for up to two years while it retools in order to eventually produce electric-fueled vehicles.

According to the payment plan with the city, that means the city will stop receiving $700,000 a year for that time period, because the plant will be idle.

So, it's back to the financial drawing board for city officials while they brace for the financial blowback.

Could part of this financial puzzle be solved by a new contract with the firefighters' union?

Contract negotiations are underway, and it's a good bet that something is going to change. Whatever it is, it will take place months from now.

Also, at the end of June the employment contract with police officers expires.

There could be an attempt at cutting corners there as well.

As if all that isn't bad enough, the city's pension obligation for this year shot up by about 47 percent, from a yearly payment of $1.3 million to around $2 million.

Needless to say, the city manager is going to have her work cut out for her this year.

Our suggestion to the manager: You're going to need a big bottle of Tums – and aspirin.

Recreation-wise, the city is seeking a grant to further develop Veterans Park, which has already undergone a substantial transformation. There are now various types of children's play equipment, an outdoor soccer arena, and a volleyball beach area.

If we are lucky, we may even hear back about a possible multi-million-dollar grant from the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation to fix up the historic baseball stadium.

Over at the public school district, the school board is taking steps to seek a $35 million bond issue to continue building improvements and construct a new school next to Kosciuszko Middle School, as well as add another floor to the administration building.

This ambitious plan would require voter approval. It's likely going to take a herculean effort by school officials and community members to get it passed.

Culturally-speaking, Paczki Day once again attracted thousands of visitors.

And the annual Hamtramck Music Fest was held the same week as Paczki Day – making it kind of a Paczki Week. A huge number of bands, performers and DJs played in dozens of venues, including bars, veterans halls and even the public library.

Now that was a lot of partying for one week!

It's seems like we barely scratched the surface, but perhaps this is a good place to end – just thinking about all of it is making our heads spin.

Historical Museum hosted a number of interesting events

By Alan Madlane

The Hamtramck Historical Commission & Friends of Historical Hamtramck had another busy year in 2019.

In their annual report had these highlights:

In the Operations Department, it was noted that several new members were sworn in onto the commission's board of directors, although they were not named. The bylaws were also updated, the report states.

Restorations and upgrades continued through the past year on the museum's building, located at 9525 Jos. Campau. The main floor bathroom, in particular, was completely re-done, a project funded at least partially by a private 5k grant.

Painting of the rear wall in the main gallery was also finished, providing that area with a more uniform appearance.

These major renovations did impact the museum's programming over the past 12 months, it was said. However, the museum still had success with its "Hungry for History" series, which combines an on-site dinner with a speaker's presentation on some local historical topic. The building also loaned itself out for other groups' use, including the Downriver Historical Organization.

In the meantime, there was plenty of activity in the form of different kinds of outreach.

The museum created an evolving partnership with both Wayne State University and the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA).

This came about because of a joint effort between the museum and the WSU Anthropology Department's archaeology students, during an effort to try to restore an old log cabin style home that had been rediscovered near the city's border, just into Detroit. Unfortunately, the house had been scheduled for demolition, and in the end, small-mindedness ruled – and ruined – the day, as the structure was surreptitiously destroyed.

On the bright side, several artifacts were recovered from the resulting rubble, and preserved off-site at Wayne State. The incident also thrust all parties involved into the national spotlight, where preservationists of all stripe could bemoan Detroit's foolhardiness.

The museum also partnered with the Hamtramck Public Schools, the Michigan Department of Education, the Michigan Historical Society and, once again, Wayne County RESA to bring alive History Day for the city's school-age people. It is said to be a first of its kind teaming up.

Also, the museum's archival area continues to grow steadily. The archive now boasts over 5,000 documents of all sorts, on every aspect of the city's existence. There is also a 15,000-strong collection of physical objects in the museum, as well as a smaller batch of maps, books, and a/v material pertinent to Hamtramck's history.

The museum is now also des-end up eating and shopping in the city, and feedback and word-of-mouth have been strong and positive.

After a bit of a downturn mid-decade, attendance to the museum has increased yearly, and in fact it easily hit a record high this year, with over 4,500 visitors passing through – an increase of almost 43% over 2018, itself an up year over 2017.

In short, the museum would seem to be prospering and thriving as never before. We can't wait to hear what 2020 brings.

igned as the official repository for all de-accessed legal papers, such as old court records, city council meeting minutes, old contracts, assessments, and so on. If you seek these records, the museum is your place.

Perhaps most important of all from a city booster perspective, the library continues to hold tours of the city, often for out-of-town and even out-of-state groups. The frequency of these tours can vary from once a month to several times a week, but they are mostly pre-arranged. Tourists often
